SUMMARY

The attached report outlines the composition, purpose and functions of the Committee. The programs subject to the appeal and the appeal process are described. The report also presents a statistical accounting of the work of the Committee for the years 1979, 1980 and 1981.

INTRODUCTION

This report is submitted to the Minister of Community Services & Corrections. The report outlines the programs that are subject to appeal and summarizes the work of the Committee for the years 1979, 1980 and 1981.

THE SOCIAL SERVICES ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The Committee was first established in 1959 by The Department of Welfare Act. That Act was repealed in 1974. The Committee was continued under the provisions of The Social Services Administration Act. The legislation and regulations applicable to the work of the Committee are:

The Social Services Administration Act

Regulations under The Social Services Administration Act respecting the provisions of Day Care.

Regulations under The Social Services Administration Act respecting the licensing of Residential Care Facilities.

Regulations under The Social Services Administration Act respecting the Manitoba Supplement to Pensioners.

The Social Allowances Act

Regulations under The Social Allowances Act.

The Committee consists of 15 members, one of whom is Chairman and another Vice-Chairman. Recommendations for appointments are made by the Minister responsible for the administration of The Social Services Administration Act. Appointments are made by the Lieutenant Governor-in-Council. A quorum of the Committee is three members, one of whom must be the Chairman or Vice-Chairman.

The functions of the Committee are:

1) to receive and act on appeals against a decision of the director of social services;

2) to receive and act on appeals against a decision of the director of the Manitoba Supplement to Pensioners program;

3) to receive and act on appeals against a decision of the director of the Office of Residential Care;

4) to receive and act on appeals against decisions of municipalities with regard to municipal assistance;

5) to serve in an advisory capacity to the Minister on any matter which may come to the Committee's attention;

6) to undertake any additional tasks assigned by the Minister.

The office of the Committee supplies the administration and support services to the Committee. In addition, the office

(a) acts as an intermediary between the Department and clients where a misunderstanding has occurred; and

(b) is a resource to municipalities re the appeal system.

REPORTS

A report on each appeal is submitted to the Minister and the Deputy Minister.

A quarterly case report summarizes the issue under appeal and the decision of the Board. This report is distributed to the Minister, the Deputy Minister and senior staff of the provincial and municipal programs.

Statistical information is compiled on a monthly, quarterly and yearly basis. This report is forwarded to the Minister, Deputy Minister, senior provincial officials and the departmental statistics section.

AGENCY RELATIONSHIPS

Certain agencies interface with the Committee in ensuring that the rights of welfare recipients are protected.

Legal Aid Society:

A 1980 amendment to The Social Allowances Act requires that an applicant or recipient who has been advised of his right of appeal must also be advised of his right to be represented by counsel of his choice.

This change has resulted in an increased number of lawyers appearing before the Appeal Board on behalf of appellants.

Human Rights Commission:

The Commission and the Committee occasionally have the same client. Referrals are made from one to another, depending on the nature of the complaint. The confidentiality of each file is maintained. However, open discussion and exchange of information and cooperation between these agencies has always been the rule.

The Office of the Ombudsman:

Any citizen of the province has the right to lodge a complaint with the Ombudsman against an action of a government official, department or agency.

When complaints are filed with the Office of the Ombudsman against the decision of the Committee, a thorough investigation is conducted by the Ombudsman on each complaint. Assistance and cooperation is extended by the Committee office during the investigation.

PROGRAMS SUBJECT TO APPEAL

Eligibility criteria for all programs is set out in the appropriate legislation. This eligibility criteria must be met or a person cannot receive the help he/she has applied for.

The Social Allowance Program:

This program is designed to provide the basic necessities of life to a person who is:

- physically or mentally incapable of providing for himself and/or his dependants;

- a mother with dependant children who
  ... is a widow,
  ... has never been married,
  ... is divorced and has not remarried,
  ... who has been deserted or separated for a period in excess of 90 days,
  ... or whose husband has been sent to prison for more than 90 days.

- a child, in the care and custody of a person other than his parents, whose parents are unable to contribute to his support.

The Student Social Allowance Program:

This program provides for the basic necessities as well as school costs for students (18 years of age and older). The applicant may be attending high school or undertaking undergraduate or technical vocational training.

Special Care Services:

The definition of special care contained in The Social Allowances Act reads as follows:

> "5(4) For the purposes of this section "special care" means care provided to a dependant of an applicant or recipient in a residential welfare institution that has been approved by the minister, or in a day nursery that has been approved by the director and provided to a dependant by a nurse, housekeeper, or homemaker in the home of the applicant or recipient or in a foster home."

Employed persons (or persons with another source of income) may be granted social allowance to meet the costs of special care for himself and/or his dependants.

Day Care Subsidies:

This program is established by regulation under The Social Services Administration Act.

Day Care Subsidies are available for persons who are seeking employment, employed or attending school. Full and partial subsidies are available. Eligibility is based on family income less allowable expenses.

Municipal Assistance:

Persons who are in need and who are not eligible for social allowance, are entitled to receive municipal assistance to provide for the basic necessities.

Assistance is provided in accordance with the provisions of the appropriate by-law of the city, town or municipality.

Manitoba Supplement to Pensioners:

This program is established by regulation under The Social Services Administration Act. The program provides a supplementary income to pensioners age fifty-five or over who are not in receipt of the Old Age Security.

To be eligible for benefits under this program, fifty percent of all income must come from pension sources, and the income level cannot exceed the maximum set out in the Regulation.

Licensing of Residential Care Facilities:

In January, 1981, legislation requiring that all residential care facilities for the aged and infirm, mentally retarded, mental health patients, and children's homes must be licensed or be granted a letter of approval. Program and physical standards have been developed for each type of residence.

A denial or cancellation of a licence or a letter of approval is appealable to the Committee.

THE APPEAL PROCESS

The entire Committee does not sit on each appeal. Rather, the Appeal Board consists of a quorum of the Committee, i.e., three members.

Committee members are selected to act as members of appeal boards on a rotation basis. The only exceptions to this practice are members in rural areas. The services of these members are utilized exclusively in the areas in which they reside.

If a member is personally acquainted with an appellant, he/she is expected to exclude himself/herself from membership on the board appointed to consider the matter under appeal.

Employees and elected representatives of federal, provincial and municipal governments are not considered for Committee membership. This policy is in effect to avoid any possibility of a conflict of interest.

Social Allowance, Student Social Allowance, Special Care and Municipal Assistance Programs:

Under the provisions of The Social Allowances Act, the director of a municipality must notify an applicant or recipient of social allowance or municipal assistance, in writing, of any decision which denies, discontinues, reduces or suspends social allowance or municipal assistance and the reason for the decision. The notice must also advise the applicant or recipient of the right of appeal (within 15 days of receipt of the notice) and the right to be represented by counsel.

Any applicant or recipient of these programs may appeal to the Social Services Advisory Committee. The appeal must be filed within 15 days of the receipt of the notice of a decision on his/her case. The grounds for appeal are:

- the person was not allowed to apply or re-apply for assistance;

- the person's request for assistance was not decided upon within a reasonable time;

- the person's application for assistance was denied;

- the person's assistance was cancelled, suspended, varied or withheld; or

- the amount of assistance is insufficient to meet need.

Upon receipt of an appeal, a board must be convened to deal with that appeal within 15 days.

The legislation requires that three days notice be given to the appellant and the respondent. In practice, notification is sent out a week to ten days prior to the hearing date. A copy of the notice of appeal is forwarded with the notice of hearing.

Upon receipt of the notice, the respondent is required to provide the appeal board with:

- a copy of the appellant's application,

- particulars of the financial resources of the appellant,

- evidence that notice requirements have been met, and

- a copy of any other relevant record or document.

Copies of these documents are provided to the appellant by the appeal board.

If the office is aware that the appellant is to be represented by counsel, an attempt is made to provide copies of documents submitted by the respondent to the solicitor prior to the hearing date.

The appeal board convenes in the home community of the appellant whenever possible and will convene in the home of the appellant on request. If an appellant is required to travel to a central location he/she is reimbursed for travel and meals at the same rate paid to government employees.

The appellant, and his/her representative or legal counsel and a representative of the respondent must be present at the hearing to present evidence to the board. The rules of procedure for appeal hearings are set by the Chairman. There is an emphasis on informality to lessen any possibility of intimidation of the appellant. Formality is only enforced to the degree necessary to have the hearing proceed in an orderly fashion.

The legislation does not set a time limit for the distribution of the appeal decision. However, it is the practice of the Committee to mail it to those concerned within forty-eight hours of the hearing.

The Order of the appeal board may be appealed to the Court of Appeal for Manitoba within 30 days of receipt of the order on a matter of jurisdiction or a point of law.

Day Care Subsidy Program:

There is no legislated appeal process for this program. The appeal process is in place on the instruction of the Minister who has assigned this responsibility to the Committee.

The process and procedures for day care subsidy appeals are as outlined for the social allowances program. An appellant for a day care subsidy cannot appeal the Order of the Board to the Courts. The decision of the Board is final.

Manitoba Supplement to Pensioners:

Manitoba Supplement to Pensioners Program is subject to appeal to the Committee. The basis for an appeal could be with respect to a decision respecting his/her eligibility or benefits level. An appeal must be filed within 15 days of receiving the decision.

The format for appeals under this program may vary from the procedures for the social services program. The legislation states that the matter is to be reviewed by the Committee. There is no requirement to hold a hearing.

There have only been two appeals since the program was initiated in October, 1980.

The process used in dealing with the appeals to date was:

- the department was contacted and requested to provide the information on which the decision under appeal was based;

- the information was presented to a duly constituted appeal board for review;

- in the opinion of the Board, sufficient information was available and a decision was made with respect to the appeal;

- the appellant and respondent were advised in writing of the decision of the Board.

The eligibility criteria and levels of benefits for this program are very specific. A person must receive 50% of his total income from pension sources. The appeals were received from persons who had applied under this program and were denied as they had no pension income.

As the appellants were clearly ineligible for the program, the appeals could be dealt with in the less complicated format described above.

If, however, there was some uncertainty as to eligibility or benefit levels, a hearing would be convened to allow both parties to the appeal an opportunity to present their case to the Board. The process for the hearings would be as set out for the social allowance program with one exception.

Under this program, the decision of the Appeal Board is final as there is no appeal to the Courts.

Licensing of Residential Care Facilities:

The right of appeal for this program is granted under The Social Services Administration Act. The Act provides that:

> "11.2(5) Any person aggrieved by the
> (a) refusal of the licensing authority to issue a letter of approval or a licence; or
> (b) cancellation or suspension of a letter of approval or a licence;
> may within 10 days after receiving notice of the refusal, cancellation or suspension appeal the matter to the Social Services Advisory Committee."

Within 30 days of receipt of a notice of appeal the Committee must consider the matter and advise the appellant, in writing, of its decision. The appellant then has 10 days within which to appeal the decision of the Committee to the County Court of the district in which the facility is located.

The trial in the County Court would be a trial de novo (a new trial). The decision of that court would be final and not subject to further appeal.

It is the intention of the Committee that the basic procedures for appeals would be similar to those previously outlined for social services programs. A report would be requested and a copy of same provided to the appellant and his solicitor prior to the hearing date. Because of the complexity of the issues involved, a hearing could possibly take several days and could require an on-site inspection of the facility.
